CHÂTEAU PAS DE L'ANE

Château Pas de l'Ane was built in 1999 from a 1-hectare plot and has never stopped expanding since then.

In 2006, Pas de l'Ane's vineyard settled in the former Château Cros-Figeac, also called Château Cros-Saint-Emilion (Edition de Féret de 1998).

Château Pas de l'Ane is located just a few steps away from world-famous neighbors, between Château Cheval Blanc and Château Figeac, in the iron-rich upper plateau of the Saint-Émilion Grand Cru appellation that's home to not just the best wines of that AOP, but some of the best wines in the world.

The now 13-hectare vineyard covers five of the eight Saint-Émilion Grand Cru appellation areas. This plot diversity ensures a remarkably varied geology and enables the winery to produce five Saint-Émilion Grands Crus wines, of which this is the very top end.
