

CLEMENTINE

Located on the eastern coast of Corsica, the base of Clementine was born, from Vermentinu vineyards nestled within a large pine forest. A true place of harmony between fauna and flora, this pine forest extends over 988 acres. Bordered by the banks of the Urbinu pond and by 2.2 miles of turquoise beach.

The forest offers many surprises to those who walk through it, between the pine trees and the typical maquis of the island of beauty, it is a real labyrinth of steep paths. Only one point of reference, the sun! A sensory experience where the sound of the waves and the cicadas, the sweet amber smell of the sun-warmed pines, the sand under your feet...
